Classroom News

This class has adjusted nicely to routines and schedules. It has been a hot steamy week upstairs but all students have been very well behaved and hardworkers. Homecoming week was a lot of fun.

Reading/AR

I want to thank all of you parents for assuring that your student is reading at home each evening. Our class is right on track with their AR points. They will now need to reach 6 points by October 2.

Social Studies

We have been learning about our state. Your child should be able to tell you Michigan's state symbols, name the great lakes, and be able to use the directions on a compass rose.

Math

We are currently working on Module 1 in the Engage NY math series. We are learning the concept of multiplication and division. At this time the students do not need to memorize their multiplication facts. I have discovered however that many students have forgotten their addition and subtraction facts, so it would be wonderful if you could review those at home. If you need to borrow some flashcards from me then please let me know. If your child is absent or you need assistance with the Engage NY lessons, they are all online for you to view the lessons that I teach in class. It comes in very handy when new terms are being used or the student does not understand.
