

Mrs. Crawford's 2nd Grade News

Monday, December 18, 2017

Dear Parents,

It's the last week of before our break! Here are some learning targets that we are working on this week:

Reading:

I can review words with /u/ spelled ew and ue

I can define my vocabulary words

I can review the elements of an expository text in "Out and About at City Hall"

I can learn my Spelling words

I can read my decodable story: "A Stroll Down Mule Avenue"

Grammar: Facts vs. opinions

Writing: We are working on the illustrations for our informative paragraphs

Math: I can learn addition and subtraction within 200, with words problems to 100

I can use math drawings to represent subtraction with and without decomposition, and relate drawings to a written method

I can represent subtraction with and without decomposition when there is a 3 digit number

I can solve one and two step problems within 100 using strategies based on place value
